

>If all the economists in the world were laid end to end . . .

>Punchline #1: they would all point in different directions.

>Punchline #2: they wouldn't reach a conclusion.

Punchline #3: it would be a good idea just to leave them there.

-Tommy Mac

Tom McWilliams 517-355-2178 wk \ As the radius of vision increases, 18084tm@ibm.cl.msu.edu 336-9591 hm \ the circumference of mystery grows.