

I need information on the medical (including emotional :-)) pros and cons of circumcision (at birth). I am especially interested in references to studies that indicate disadvantages or refute studies that indicate advantages. A friend who is a medical student is writing a survey paper, and apparently the studies she has run into are all for circumcision, the main argument being a lower risk of penile cancer.

Please email responses as I am not a frequent reader of either group.

I will summarize to the net.
